

CONTENTS

Introduction

1. Looking for a Home

Area
Choosing your property
Purchasing a flat
Valuing a property
Leasehold Reform Act 1993
Viewing properties
Buying an old house
Renovation grants
Disabled facilities grant
Equalities Act 2010
Planning permission
Buying a listed building
Building in conservation areas
Buying a new home
Building guarantees
Websites
Buying a rented house
Right to buy
Shared Ownership
Self-build property
Key points

2. The Role of Estate Agents

Estate agents
Choosing an agent
Selling through more than one agent
Buying property using the internet
Selling property using the internet
Key points

3. Buying a property-The Practicalities

- Budget
- Deposit
- Stamp duty
- Other costs
- Land registry
- Energy Performance Certificates
- Structural surveys
- Mortgage fees
- Buildings Insurance
- Removals
- Costs of moving
- The process of buying a property
- Making an offer
- Putting your own home on the market
- Exchange of contracts
- Buying with a friend
- Completing a purchase
- Buying a property in an auction
- Preparing for auction
- Buying before auction
- At the auction
- Sale by tender
- House swapping
- Key points

4. More about mortgages

- Lenders
- Centralised lenders
- Brokers and 'independent' advisors
- How much can you borrow?
- Mortgage market Review

Buying, Selling and Renting Out Your Property

- Deposits
- Help to Buy Scheme
- Joint Mortgages
- Main types of mortgages
- What to do if given the wrong advice
- How to complain
- Borrowing and the internet
- Key points

5. Selling your home

- Estate Agents
- DIY selling
- Setting the price
- Selling by auction
- Key points

6. Conveyancing a Property

- Legal ownership of property
- Freehold property
- Leasehold property
- The lease
- Check-points in a lease
- Two systems of conveyancing
- Registered and unregistered land
- The key steps in conveyancing
- Making enquiries before contract
- Local land charges search
- Local authority searches
- Other searches
- Other enquiries
- The contract for sale
- Procedures in the formation of a contract
- The contents of a contract

- Misdescription
- Misrepresentation
- Non-disclosure
- Signing the contract
- Exchanging contracts
- Completion
- Return of pre-contract deposits
- The position of parties after exchange
- Bankruptcy of the vendor
- Bankruptcy of the purchaser
- Death of vendor or purchaser
- Key points

7. Planning Moving Arrangements

- DIY moves
- Using professionals
- Websites
- Contacting utilities

8. Buying and Selling in Scotland

- Looking for property
- Ownership of property in Scotland
- House prices
- The buying process
- Surveys
- Making an offer
- Exchange of missives
- Missives concluded
- Searches
- Selling a house or flat
- The legal services of a solicitor
- Accepting offers
- Setting an entry date

Buying, Selling and Renting Out Your Property

Completion
Key points

9. Buying Overseas

General advice
Useful websites

10. Renting Out Your Property-Finding a Tenant

Letting Agents
Advertisements
The public sector
Company lets
Short-lets
Student lets
The DSS and housing benefit
Holiday lets
Showing the property to the tenant
Deposits
Rental guarantees
Key points

11. Items Provided Under a Tenancy

Furniture
Services
Insurance
Key points

12. The Type of Tenancy to Use

The assured tenant
The Assured Shorthold tenancy
Tenancy running on after fixed term

Evicting assured shorthold tenants
Security of tenure: The ways in which a tenant can lose their home as an assured (shorthold) tenant
The mandatory grounds for possession
The discretionary grounds for possession of a property
Fast track possession
Raising rent-How frequently can a landlord raise the rent?
Key points

13. Joint Tenancies

Joint tenancies: the position of two or more people who have a tenancy agreement for one property
Key points

14. Carrying Out Repairs and Improvements

Repairs and improvements generally: Landlord and tenants obligations Example of repairs a landlord is responsible for:
Reporting repairs to landlords
The tenants rights whilst repairs are being carried out
Can the landlord put the rent up after doing repairs?
Tenants rights to make improvements to a property
Disabled tenants
Shared housing. The position of tenants in shared houses (Houses in Multiple Occupation)
Duty to take safety measures
The availability of grants
Sanitation health and hygiene
key points

15. Regaining Possession of a Property

Fast track possession

Buying, Selling and Renting Out Your Property

Going to court to end the tenancy
Key points

16. At the End of a Tenancy

When does the tenancy end?
Handover procedure
Tenants property left behind
Death of a tenant

17. Managing the Finances-Tax and Other Issues

Allowable expenses
Non-allowable expenses
Furnished residential lettings
Furnished holiday lettings
All letting properties
How much capital allowance can you claim?
Which year do expenses apply to?
Losses
Working out tax payable Reporting profits to HMRC
Capital gains tax
Tax on furnished holiday lettings
Key points

19. Private Tenancies in Scotland

Different types of tenancy
Protected tenancies
Grounds for possession
Fair rent system
Statutory tenancies
Assured tenants

Short-assured tenancies
Recovery of possession
Key points

Useful Addresses/a summary of useful websites

Index

Buying, Selling and Renting Out Your Property

INTRODUCTION

As time goes by, we either find ourselves in the middle of a housing market 'boom' or a 'bust'. Currently, at the time of writing, we are experiencing a rise in property prices, after a long recession. However, notwithstanding market conditions, the process of buying and selling a home remains probably the single most important activity undertaken by individuals in their lifetime. The money and effort involved means that it is a process that must be carried out effectively and with a clear knowledge of the elements involved.

When buying or selling a home, particularly buying, you will liaise with a whole number of people, professional or otherwise: solicitors, estate agents, finance brokers, surveyors, banks and building societies and so on. All of these people play a vital role in the house purchase/sale transaction. All of these parties involved will have many years experience of property and not all of them will be acting in your own best interests.

Very often, the person who owns the property or who wishes to purchase a property is the one with the least knowledge of the process and is the one who stands to lose the most. When initially looking for a property, wrong decisions are made. The price paid for a property is quite often too high, with disastrous consequences later on. The condition of the property may leave a lot to be desired. There are many stories of people losing out on this single most important transaction. Unfortunately, it is a fact that if mistakes are made at the outset then you might spend the rest of your life recovering from the consequences.

This book also covers the key points of renting out a property and is meant to be of help to those who have decided to rent out their property for one reason or another. Like all areas of life, knowledge is a precious asset and can help you make informed decisions. This book will go some way to assist you in being able to make informed decisions and to understand more about the process of buying, selling and renting out a property.